Overview: Sales increase steadily approaching Christmas, and return again to early December sales level during New Year Eve. Dipped sales in 25th December was due to shops being non-operational during Christmas.

Affluence doesn't seem to affect quantity of purchase per customer. Older and Young Family segment have the highest average purchase units per unique customer.

Sales mainly came from Budget - older families, Mainstream - young singles/couples, and Mainstream - retirees. In total, older customers buy more than younger customers. Non-premium customers buy more than premium customers.
